UGANDA: Major Offensive

The Ugandan Army has begun a large offensive against the dissident National Resistance Army [redacted]

(b)(1)

[redacted] The government force is now sweeping the Luwero triangle north of Kampala and reportedly will be expanded to 6,000 or 7,000 troops before the operation is completed.

(b)(3)

Comment: The Luwero triangle has long been the center of insurgent activity despite continuous government efforts to establish control over the area. Past Ugandan offensives there have resulted in a wholesale displacement of the population and atrocities against civilians, seriously straining Kampala's relations with Western aid donors.
